Vessel Crippled

The Jupiter was known a few months back as the "ghost ship" because it was unable to land during a dispute with the National Maritime Union (N.M.U.).

"She could not go around anytime the anchor let loose," a coast guard officer said.

The Jupiter, property of the Jupiter Steamship Company, was towed to the beach within sight of the wallowing freighter was a coast guard party, ready to land if the ship broke up or sank.

Mysterious circumstances, which surrounded the luckless Jupiter when it acquired its "ghost ship" during the seamen's strike, prevented again today. The coast guard said it did not know where the ship had been docked, to destroy, or even the direction in which it was travelling.

"THE VESSEL was laden with rock salt and had a gross tonnage of 2,119—a factor which probably enabled her to remain upright in the heavy seas. But although the vessel was first seen on the trip from Manitoba where salt is produced, the port announced to Laidlaw south in Montreal, then there as much as two weeks ago and might be on a return trip."

down smashed in a violent struggle during the 10-mile ride with his attorney, a lawyer, and a friend.

Dead is the shooting were the woman's husband, Vernon, and her neighbor, Mrs. Marshall, 32, of Northport, Mich.

Chief Police Bengtson of Rockford, Ill., said Sheriff B. J. Bengtson of Grand County, where the woman broke away from Marshall, stated that the shooting was a surprise.

In JULY MARSHALL became infatuated with this story. She, however, did not tell his wife, Audrey, 27, until last week. Yesterday, when he learned the Andersons were planning to move from the stockyard area to left home.

Mrs. Marshall and her two children, Richard, five, and Susan, three, were to the home of Rockford friends to live. She also visited Anderson's parents to whom her husband had purchased a place.

While supper was being prepared last night in the home of Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson, there was a knock on the door. Anderson and Marshall, seated at the kitchen table, looked up but Anderson's warning of "don't open the door" was too late.

MARSH BERT said Anderson's mother, Gertrude, who answered the door, saw two men enter the house. Both men rose up to lounge at Marshall, then collapsed, mortally wounded.

Mrs. Anderson ran to the bedroom and hid under the bed. She was unable to escape from Marshall. Threatening "if you don't answer, I'll kill you," Marshall dragged the woman to the door.

She was then into the automobile and sped away.

Radio-Phone

of railways and telephones, announced Saturday.

Official inauguration of the service was in the form of conversations with Premier Ernest Manning, Mr. Fallow and W. C. Bruce, deputy minister of telephones in Edmonton and N. E. Cook, M.L.A. for Olds at Sundre. Conversations are reported to have been exceptionally distant.

The new service is the result of a two-year plan of experiments. Mr. Fallow said. He believes this was the first time the ultra short wave lengths used in FM transmission have been put to such a use.

The minister said these waves are of a much different nature than ordinary radio waves. In that they do not follow curvature of the earth with the result that the range is limited by what engineers call "line of sight" operation.

It was due to this factor that the first attempts to link Sundre with the rest of Alberta by this method failed.

Radio waves are "beamed" to the point of reception. They are not scattered in all directions as ordinary radio waves. Conversations remain private, since commercial and private radio are not in the same wavelengths.

The radio link established between Olds and Sundre is the first step in what promises to become a general service in the development of communication," Mr. Fallow added.

FEWER SERVICES, HEALTHIER DONCASTER, ALBERTA.—(CP)—Doncaster, Nov. 4.—(CP)—Fewer services, healthier and slimmer today because they used that when permission to open was again granted. In actual fact, the nine nine non-Catholic church in Madrid have been open continuously. Their schools, however, were closed.

Hint Newfoundland To Reject Terms

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 5.—(CP)—Speculation that confederation with Canada as a future form of government for Newfoundland might be excluded from the latest paper in the forthcoming national referendum was general here today.

It was predicted as well that Canada's terms of union for the island colony might be shelved altogether without discussion by the national convention, elected to recommend a future form or forms of government.

The notion of a motion made yesterday by Gordon F. Higgins was seen as significant. He proposed that the British government be requested to authorize holding of a referendum immediately to ascertain the people's view of possible returns to responsible government.

Goes to Committee Monday Truman Wants Quick European Aid Action

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(CP)—Preliminary details of President Truman's European recovery program and, possibly, its impact on Canada's economic situation, will go to a congressional committee Monday.

This WILL BE a prelude to the special congressional session due to open a week from Monday when, the president hopes, it will give priority to the aid program.

He wants quick action on proposals for "stop-gap" aid to Europe amounting to about $100,000,000, followed by similar prompt measures to halt the domestic price spiral.

The long-range plan for European aid will be presented to the regular session of Congress but, regardless of the president's idea, it is certain to be debated at the special session.

First year costs of the long-term plan for rehabilitating European countries, and also American aid to aggregate close to $200,000,000 over the four years it is estimated, the plan will need to operate.

At the same time, the plan will continue through the winter.

Mr. O'Sullivan said the job of taking up the pipe, which strikes 100 miles from Whitehorse to Norman Wells, will take about 18 months.

Approximately 115 men are now engaged in the work, which will continue through the winter.

As many of the bridges over rivers along the route of the pipe have been washed out, the winter season is the best for carrying out the work.

The pipe is being cut in Whitehorse for resale to oil companies.

The O'Sullivan company is also carrying out provincial government work in the Yukon Territory.

Proposals for Newfoundland's representation in the Maritime Provinces, farming on the project. He invested $100,000 of his own money in the clearing scheme.

Government Asks Payment of Note

Payment of a $500,000 demand note by Nov. 15 has been formally requested by the provincial government of O. B. Lassiter, head of the firm of O. B. Lassiter & Son, Ltd., of Vancouver, B.C.

The Lassiter firm had contracted to do breaking work on the Vancouver area veteran's project.

Work was suspended on the project Oct. 30 when it was learned by the firm that no further credit was to be extended to it beyond the $200,000 originally advanced.

Mr. Lassiter returned to his home at Chin, in southern Alberta, Friday morning while waiting for the reopening of negotiations with the government.

H. A. Doyle, K.C. appointed as solicitor for Mr. Lassiter, said the letter demanding payment of the note was obviously the first legal step being taken by the government to effect seizure of the equipment valued at $350,000, which Mr. Lassiter had pledged in support of his note.

The contractor also had assigned to the government all rights to crop share payments from federal and provincial governments, including the right to farm on the project. He invested $100,000 of his own money in the clearing scheme.

B.C. Salmon Canneries Face Potential Extinction

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—(CP)—With United States salmon canneries appropriating the bulk of the yearly British Columbia catch with their higher prices and heavier demands, canneries operators here speculated yesterday on the potential extinction of the domestic industry, unless drastic governmental steps are taken soon to revise existing tariffs on the export of the fish to the U.S.

"We aren't going to have any more salmon canning unless some more changes are made," said one city operator.

This is the warning given by B.C. canneries in general, who point out that the matter is a major policy issue in which Canada's raw products are at stake.

The recent federal order lifting the embargo on the shipment of salmon has caused a situation in which virtually all the fish caught in local waters are finding their way to the American market.

"It would not be so serious if there was an equal U.S. duty structure on the import of Canadian salmon," one operator declared. "One cent a pound is levied on raw salmon entering the U.S. whereas a 25 per cent ad valorem is assessed on British Columbia salmon imports."

Where the duty structure is equitable, B.C. canneries would compete with the Americans, pay B.C. fishermen higher prices and then sell the canned products to the United States. They cannot do this under the existing economic structure.

"Canada needs U.S. dollars, but we think there are other ways of getting them besides shipping our raw products out of the country," asserted another canneries official.

The only thing putting off employment at present on the B.C. coastal canneries is the hiring rack.

As the probable method of relief, operators stated that D.C. could create a change in duty structure. They say they know of no organized industry protest to Ottawa, but indications are that individual or perhaps collective complaints will be made.

POLICE COURT

Suspends Licence Of City Motorist

A charge of dangerous driving resulted in a six month suspension of a driver's licence for Albert Giger, 11013 100 street, when he appeared before Magistrate A. L. Miller in city police court Friday. The magistrate also imposed a fine of $50 and costs.

Detectives Edward Kenny and Gerald Black said that when they were on duty Nov. 1, the accused passed them on the corner of 104 avenue and 116 street at a speed estimated at between 50 and 60 miles an hour.

The police followed him, and near the intersection of 109 avenue and 124 street his car almost collided with another. When finally stopped by the detectives he told them he was hurrying because he was late for work.

Several motorists charged with speeding appeared in court with six of them being called before the magistrate. Five drew fines, while one was remanded until 2 p.m. Two of the drivers whose licences were said to have been more than 45 miles an hour had their drivers licences suspended for 60 days.

James Lylik, 10157 100A street, charged with obtaining money by false pretences, and theft of some goods belonging to his mother-in-law, pleaded not guilty and was convicted and sentenced to seven days imprisonment from the date of arrest which was Nov. 1. He was reported to have used his brother's name in borrowing $20 from a job tinkerer.

Police traced Doreen Harris, Edmonton, to Lloydminster and Saskatoon before she was apprehended and brought back to face a charge of being in possession of more than $25 worth of clothing stolen from another Edmonton woman. Police found that an arrival in Lloydminster the accused had sold the clothes. She pleaded guilty to the charge, and was remanded until this afternoon for sentence.

Theodore Smiley, no fixed abode, held in custody during the last 13 days with bail set at $10,000, was released Friday on a charge of housebreaking, but was sentenced to 13 days from date of arrest on a charge of vagrancy.

Ask Government

Aid Education

In a resolution to be presented to the Alberta School Trustees Association convention to be held in Calgary Nov. 12, 13 and 14, the government of Alberta will be requested to set aside 25 per cent of the revenues received by and through the development of the mines and minerals in the province which will be used to increase the present scale of grants paid by the government to the local boards of education.

This was announced at an inaugural meeting of the Edmonton Public School Board in the Civic block Friday night.

The resolution states that the major portion, which is approximately 90 per cent, of the mines and minerals in Alberta are reserved in the name of the government and as the government is acting on behalf of all citizens of Alberta, the citizens are entitled benefits arising from these developments.

It further states that the government is responsible for the providing of education for citizens of the province, but in discharging this duty, has passed on to local boards the responsibility of finding the major share of the money to operate the educational system.

It is the opinion of the association that the provincial government share in the costs of education, to the greater extent than it does at the present time.

Edmonton school board delegates to the convention will be H. H. Ise, Mrs. Mary E. Butterworth and F. C. Macdonald, chairman of the school board. They will be accompanied by H. S. Sheppard, superintendent of schools, H. Turner, secretary of the Edmonton Public School board and W. W. Hinchey, architect and plant superintendent with the board.

Why Don't They Vote?

The elections over, there could be no point in continuing the controversy about who should have been elected but wasn't, or about the good or bad judgment shown by the voters in rejecting the auditorium bylaw and approving a two-year term.

The decisions on all these matters have been rendered and the course of events will move on from this starting line.

There is point, however, in giving some thought to the fact that only one voter in four who were qualified went to the polls. Last year one in three marked ballots. This year it is the small percentage of voters who were worse, the smaller percentage who vote marks a return to the voting average of several years preceding 1946. Over quite a lengthy period the vote last year registered a peak turn-out of voters. We have slumped back to what has to be considered "normal."

One fact is apparent. Little or nothing is accomplished by urging people to "get out and vote." The newspaper, the radio stations, candidates, Chamber of Commerce and diverse other organizations have all been doing that for years. In short, "everybody" has been telling everybody to do his duty by exercising his franchise. With the result that three voters in four stay away from the polls—a small percentage of voters because of sickness or some other circumstance beyond control—but the vast majority voluntarily. It is plain that urging does not get results.

Another fact has been made clear by long-time experience. A lively contest for the majority is the only thing that stirs up voter interest and draws a fair representation of the electorate to the polling places. When there has been no contest, or when the outcome has been a foregone conclusion, the vote polled has invariably been small. As we are to have a majority election only every other year in future, the outlook for keener public interest and larger turn-outs of voters is not good.

How is this popular indifference on voting day to be broken down? That is the practical question, to which the answer is not in sight. It is an unhealthy condition. That is not questioned. What to do about it is the conundrum. The answer is a conundrum. Edmonton people are normally good citizens. They pay their taxes as willingly as people elsewhere. They, with a few exceptions, keep the law. But they won't vote. Why?

Saying Nothing

A lot of people in Ottawa, and some in Washington, are worrying out loud about the dollar situation. The Minister of Finance is the exception. He merely said "no comment" when asked what Canada will borrow in Washington against its credit balances in other countries, or devalue its dollar, or cut down imports from the United States.

The silence of Mr. Abbott is certainly not the silence of indifference. It can't be. For the dollar imbalance is his particular personal problem. He is the man who will have to tackle it, and take the blame if his method does not work. The necessary assumption is that he has a plan, which it is not advisable to disclose at present, perhaps because of possible reactions at Washington.

Trading conditions in the world are badly complicated. Our customers abroad cannot pay in United States dollars. But there is a dollar "problem." But this is not a matter of concern to Canada only. It is of vital interest to our dollarless customers. And is also of importance to the United States, which wants to go on selling us goods but can't unless we accept payment in kind or in currency which we can't use.

For which reason other public men might be well advised to follow Mr. Abbott's example and treat the dollar question with discreet silence at the present juncture.

Still Doing It?

At Winnipeg the Western Retail Lumbermen's Association criticized the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for agreeing to purchase B.C. lumber at higher prices than was paid to producers elsewhere. Wurtine Housing, the Association spokesman said, had consented to pay the B.C. men $7.50 per thousand feet more than the market price.

The same day the federal timber control act at Ottawa said Wartime Housing had given at prices above the regular figure. He added that unless the B.C. millmen met the requirements of the building control export license will be cancelled.

What this amounts to is an allegation that the lumbermen in question have been trying to foolproof the Housing Corporation but have been called to account. If they do not stop gouging the public will not only expect the controller to level good his threat, but will demand that he do so.

After the warning that was given the B.C. lumbering interests a month ago by the Minister of Reconstruction, this charge against them would be hard to believe if it came from a less responsible quarter. If it is true that they have ignored that warning, they will get no sympathy should their export trade be cut off.

The Forgotten Word

These words of Christ are recorded in the fifth chapter of the Gospel of St. Matthew: "For, say unto you, that except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the Kingdom of Heaven."

This text plainly suggests a new element in the requirements of religion. More was asked of man than the observance of religious rites and the outward worship of God. Christ laid particular stress upon holiness, a word and a conception that are almost as lacking in many modern religious ideas as they were in pagan worship and philosophy.

And, indeed, holiness is a concept almost entirely peculiar to the Christian Faith. The gods of paganism were deifications of human nature. And in them the weakness as well as the beauties of human nature were worshipped. Even the finest of the ancient philosophies were little further than this. Aristotle's list of cardinal virtues enumerated wisdom, courage, temperance and justice, but the idea of holiness is never mentioned.

It is in Christianity alone that the idea of holiness is satisfactorily expounded. And it means that one has undergone the regeneration attainable only through the sacrifice of Christ; that through the cleansing power of Jesus one may aspire, not only to the human virtues, but to the divine virtues as well.

Part of this conception is contained in Christ's commandment that men should love one another. The capacity for perfect love lies hidden in holiness. For love is a divine rather than a human virtue. And only in holiness can there be perfect and universal love.

The pagan creeds knew nothing of love. Men were governed by fear of the gods. They knew nothing of holiness. They were not free from the common other than those arising from the human virtues of justice and courage and wisdom.

Christianity is the divine religion because it lifts man above the limitations of his humanity.

THE THRILL THAT COMES ONCE IN A LIFETIME — by Webster

Civil Rights Report

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The report of the president's committee on civil rights is an imposing, and somewhat disquieting, document. But it is encouraging in that it was made, and its contents and exposures should have been widely publicized. It is a tremendous piece of self-criticism, largely on the subject of racial and religious discrimination in this country.

I AM not sure, however, that all the recommendations have been carefully thought through. American citizens, observing discrepancies between ideal and actual, usually want to "pass a law." Yet there are fields of human behavior that do not readily yield to law. Where, indeed, a law may be felt to impinge on the rights of some, in protecting the rights of others.

Groups who attempt to remove religious discrimination must accept the consequences. Religion is an act of choice, hence of discrimination. Beyond the immediate person and even categories of employment. If an employer seeks a paper-hanger for his child's room, the religious affiliation of the paper-hanger cannot reasonably come into question. If, however, he is seeking a

Price Controls

By MAX FREEDMAN

It is steadily becoming more difficult to justify their retention since they are asking paid to on particular class of citizens who are being given special treatment at the expense of other taxpayers. They also claim that the government is not doing enough to protect the price of food.

This last argument, in broad terms, is unanswerable and it is a pity that the government should seek to perpetuate the payment of subsidies to certain groups of citizens who are being given special treatment at the expense of other taxpayers. They also claim that the government is not doing enough to protect the price of food.

But it is always well to bear in mind that religious intolerance, prejudices and antipathies do not readily yield to police measures.

Smiles

"But I thought you loved that girl," explained the lad in Home.

"I do," replied his companion in civies.

"You've just told me that when you met her out that way, but I saw her last night you didn't smile," said the girl.

"No, that's right," said the girl, "I was just smiling at her."

"Waiting? What for?"

"I wait," said she, "with a smaller fellow."

The sailor home on leave was telling his fiancee's family some of the funny things that had happened to him.

All listened enthralled, except the youngest son, who was obviously unimpressed.

"You see, Tommy," said the father, "I've been waiting for you to get married. I always believe in waiting for the right girl."

"Oh, yeah?" asked the lad.

"And when you see it take you to see a wife."

Guide to Home Builders

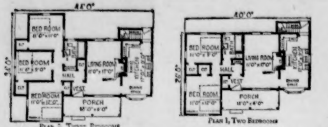

Forty-six small compact homes are illustrated, complete with floor plans, in our new booklet for homebuilders, "Small Homes of Originality." Duplicate floor plans and detailed drawings of interior fittings are offered.

The "Tamm"

A rambling Colonial type for a wide lot. Planned for modern living conditions. A complete home with large porch and fireplace.

A copy of this new book can be had at the office of The Edmonton Bulletin, or will be mailed to you postpaid, for $1.00 per copy.

Strictly Canadian by Claire Wallace

Are you a pusher? According to these same visitors: The Mexican tourist said that one of our finest qualities is that Canadians keep appointments and are on time for them. The Australian remarked that our habit of saying "You're welcome" in answer to "Thank you" is more gracious than the off-hand Australian reply of "That's alright." The Britisher thinks Canadians are very friendly and kind in addressing other people. We're not stand-offish but really democratic in meeting and mixing, she said. She found complete strangers speaking to her and said in a store, once or twice, another shopper passed a friendly remark about something she was buying and this custom made her feel very much at home in our country.

ETIQUETTE QUESTIONS—ANSWERS
STAND UP. M. J. Grimshy, Ont. writes: "I am a saleswoman and call at homes and apartments in towns throughout Ontario. Sometimes I am shown to the living room by a maid; more often by a child, and I sit down to wait for the mistress of the house. When she enters the room where I am sitting, should I rise or sit?"
ANSWER: You should always rise to greet the mistress of the house.

Power Rationing Ordered in Ontario

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—(CP)—A modified form of power rationing, effective next Monday, Nov. 10, and coupled with penalties for infractions of the regulations, was announced today by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

The announcement, by W. Ross Strick, second vice-chairman of the commission, has use of electricity for these purposes:
Signs, show-windows and ornamental lighting for decorative or advertising purposes; electric heating in stores or offices; interior lighting of business premises; after business hours unless work is being done; or for the exception of banks and other business places requiring light for protection.

The order also prohibits use of electricity for floodlighting of parking lots, and for hot water, swimming pools and outdoor industrial premises.

Light, Sleek Qualities Metal, Glass Office Buildings Forecast

By William J. Conway
CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Some day Canadians may go to work in an office building with all the light, sleek qualities of a 1947 streamlined railroad coach.

THEIR DESKS would be somewhere in a slender shaft, composed largely of metal and glass, rising to 40 floors above the street. The tower would be set in a park, complete with trees and grass, a tennis court and a swimming pool. The structure, surrounded by open spaces, would have plenty of natural light but where the windows would shield windows on the south side from sun glare.

Inside air would be filtered, and warmed or cooled. Acoustical treatment of the ceilings would minimize noise, and car-like service would be cleaned on the outside by an automatic wash system completely around each story on tracks.

OCCUPANTS would not have to leave the premises to eat, exercise, take a sun bath or see a show. There would be ample parking space in the lower levels.

Such a building has been conceived by Nathaniel A. Owings of the firm Skidmore Owings and Merrill, architects and engineers.

The structure would be built in the center of a big city, the lot would be covered by 200 feet, or approximately half of a block.

THE FIRST three floors would contain a service area, the basement and the first floor would be devoted to parking. The first floor would be occupied by commercial establishments catering to off-street trade, such as restaurants, drug stores and a theatre.

A park would be laid out on the roof of the third floor level, basketball or tennis courts and a swimming pool would be built. The building and chairs would be used for dining or lounging.

The second and third floors would be used for 40 floors from the park or plaza. It would be a simple, rectangular shaft, measuring 60 by 100 feet, and would occupy only about one-eighth of the area of the base site.

COMBINATION windows and spandrels—panels of aluminum or stainless steel and glass—could be prefabricated and "literally snapped on the building frame."

The complete skin of the structure is non-corrosive metal and glass. There will be no painting required.

early last Sept. 23 of the coal-bearer Silverton and the oil tanker Transocean and to the resulting explosion and loss of 12 lives, a four-man investigating commission said Friday. Mr. Justice P. H. Barlow of the Ontario supreme court said in a judgment read at Osgoode Hall that he and three federal transportation department assessors also found that the "may have contributed to the collision."

Christmas Flowers Can Be Grown in Window Garden

A Winter Window Garden Makes Spring Come Faster And You May Grow Them Too

Growing flowers for Christmas in the modern home is not easy, but it can be done if Paper White Narcissus bulbs are started Nov. 1, and grown in carefully regulated temperatures. Without such care the flowers are likely to be inferior, and the stems weak, because the bulbs have not matured to the degree most favorable for "forcing."

"Forcing" is the florist's word for making a plant flower out of season and the formula for accomplishing this is much the same with all bulbs.

Paper White Narcissus, planted in bowls filled with gravel or peat chips, should be kept in a temperature below 60 degrees, but above 50, preferably in dim light.

When root growth is sufficient, top growth will begin, and then they should have all the light possible. Flowers will result when the temperature never exceeds 70 degrees; keep them away from radiators and steam pipes, and out of overheated living rooms.

Instead of gravel, bowls may be filled with water, and the plants set in containers that can be deep enough to allow two inches of gravel, three or four below them, extremely limited quantities.

When top growth begins, these bulbs must have all the light you can give them. They should be kept near windows, in a sunparlor or room where ventilation can be given and temperatures kept down. By arranging shelves in front of a window, plants can stand, an attractive display is made.

Lily of the Valley plants, which can be flowered in bowls of moss and water, are again available in great quantities.

Imported Bullfrog Cops Varsity Race

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Cries of "Ra" and "ringer" rang out on the University of British Columbia campus last night after Cornellius, a bullfrog from the swamp of Louisiana won the Jester Club sponsored university frog race yesterday.

A cheering crowd of more than 500 students, who crowded into the university gymnasium, saw the import jump across the edge of a 20-foot circle in 10 minutes and 21 seconds, 20 seconds ahead of the favored Skyrider.

A surprise entry, Ambrose The Turtle, was last. Ambrose nearly pulled an upset, but disappeared into his shell when the crowd started to cheer him on.

The winning frog was flown here from Louisiana for the contest between three fraternities and the Jesters Club.

Can Hack Out 67 When "Hot"

Babe's Latest Objective Bad News for the Men

By Oscar Fraley
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(EUP)—You gotta hand it to the Babe.

Mrs. Mildred Didrikson Zaharias, no longer the Texas tomboy but now a chic lady of the world, will try anything once—and usually she'll win.

With her roly-poly husband, George, the ex-wrestler once billed as "the weeping Greek from Cripple Creek," smiling a fond grapefruit approval, the Babe now announces that she'll take a shot at the men's National Open golf crown.

IT'S ENOUGH to make a lot of pro throw away their clubs and go back to green keeping. Imagine being beaten by a dame and then trying to tell a woman club member how to hit her shoe. If they let her in the open at California's Riviera course next summer about half of the qualifiers will develop a sudden case of shivers, shanks and absenteeism. The other half will be strictly on their own.

The Babe has no false idea of what she would win. She despise her 17 consecutive tournament triumphs, which include U.S. and British women's amateurs.

"A WOMAN can be the best in her own field, but when you step up and start playing with men you're really got something on your hands," she admitted modestly. "Maybe I could beat 'em all one day but I try it three days in a row and that's something else. A woman runs out of pep too fast to qualify for the open."

NOT FOR the men golfers, though. Because the Babe admits that when she gets "hot" she can "hack out" a 57 or a 66. She "runs out of pep" too fast, after that, the poor girl. It gets so bad she might even take a 7.

Consider that in the men's open two rounds and you'll understand why the Babe is a menace.

SHE'S A determined sort, Mildred, and has been bad news before this as far as your money golfer is concerned. They still shudder when you mention the 1945 Phoenix pro-amateur. The Babe was teamed with Johnny Revolta but her individual score of 67 took the low medal in a golfing group which included Byron Nelson and such.

There's no conceit in the Babe but the tomboy lady is plenty good in the days before she acquired the sheen of sophistication she set in track and field records, including Olympic standards in the hurdles and javelin throw, took a swack at football.

Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, will make his debut for Philadelphia Rockets of the American League against Providence Reds tonight at the Arena.

Jeansman, who played with Vinny's farm club at Omaha, Neb., will replace Maurice Courteau.

Boulers Decide Selection Method

The method of selecting bowlers to represent the city at the Western Canada championships, to be held in Winnipeg next March, was decided at a recent meeting of the executive of the Edmonton City Bowlers Association.

In order that all interested might be given a chance to participate, it was decided that bowlers must officially enter by submitting a written application. The entry must be made not later than Nov. 30.

Averages are to be based on a minimum of 42 games, between the start of league bowling and Feb. 29, and at least six ladies and six men, with the highest averages, will be sent to Winnipeg. All expenses will be taken care of by the association.

Urges Extension Student Exchange

More student exchanges between U.S. and Canadian universities and the Scandinavian countries would assist materially in preservation of common ideals of democracy shared between North America and the northern European countries.

Dr. H. G. Leach, author, editor and president emeritus of the American-Scandinavian Foundation, said in an interview here Friday.

Dr. Leach, a former editor of Century and Forum magazines in the U.S., is making a lecture tour of 23 Canadian centres. He will address a meeting tonight in Alhambra Hall, University of Alberta, under the auspices of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

His subject is "Scandinavian vs. American Democracy."

About 250 American students are taking exchange courses now at the University of Oslo, and some Canadians are there also, Dr. Leach said. More would be sent to Europe if sufficient money could be raised. There are 300 Scandinavian students currently studying in U.S. universities and more wish to come, he added.

Dr. Leach defined democracy as the right of the individual to exercise as much freedom as possible without disturbing the social order of his fellow man.

He said that democracies had of necessity to use totalitarian methods under certain conditions to obtain greater efficiency, and gave as one of these examples, the Russian revolution. Sometimes totalitarian measures were needed even in times of peace but the objective of democracy always remains the maximum of personal individual liberty, Dr. Leach said.

The lecturer said Communism unquestionably holds a threat to the democratic ideal.

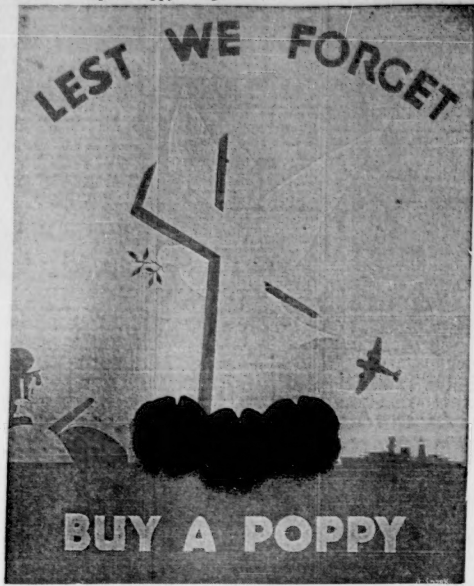

Cabinet Minister Will Address Club

Winner of Legion Poppy Design

Above is the winning entry to the Canadian Legion poppy poster competition submitted by John Jones, a student veteran of Montreal. More than 1,000 entries were received from all parts of Canada even from students as far away as Yellowknife and Dawson City. Officials state the flood of entries reveal that Canadian high school students are definitely more cautious and show a fine talent. The winner for all Canada will receive a $50 prize while winning entries in each province will be awarded $25.

Plan Early Parley On Wage Dispute

Arrangements for the date and place of the opening of conciliation proceedings in the wage dispute between mine operators and the miners' union, probably will be made next Monday.

Mr. Justice George B. O'Connor of the appellate division, supreme court of Alberta, on Thursday was named as conciliator in the dispute.

W. C. Whitaker, commissioner for the Western Canada Bituminous Coal Operators and a member of the Dominion Coal Board, is in Eastern Canada. He is expected back Monday, when he and the president of the United Mine Workers are expected to confer with officers of the Dominion Coal Operators Association regarding opening of the conciliation hearing.

After the conference, Mr. Justice O'Connor will set the date of the opening.

Veterans Plan Annual Meeting

Annual general meeting of The Royal Canadian Legion, 4th Battalion Association, is being held in Memorial Hall Sunday afternoon, 7 p.m. J. C. Jefferson, president of the veterans group, announced recently. All former members of the "Royal Canadian Legion" and the 4th Battalion (CEF) are expected to attend. Reports of committees and election of officers for the coming year are among the items included on the agenda.

With CNR Here 35 Years

Railway Accounts Clerk Retires After Long Service

With the exception of four years — 1913 to 1919 when he served with the "C" company of the 4th Battalion, Edmonton Regiment—R. Neville Jones, 1232 121 street, on Saturday completed 35 years of continuous service with the Canadian National Railways as an accounts clerk.

Born in Lancashire, England, Mr. Jones came to Canada, and directly to Edmonton, in 1912. He commenced work with the CNR that year starting his employment in the Cashier office. He was transferred to the superintendent's office, at that time in Wainwright, in 1913.

In 1915 Mr. Jones joined the 4th Battalion and left for overseas with the battalion. He returned to Canada with the regiment in 1919, and resumed his job with the CNR.

Mr. Jones recalls working for many superintendents during his day with the company. One of these was N. B. Walton, now vice-president of the CNR. Mr. Walton recently visited the city in company with R. C. Vaughan, president, and during his visit he called on Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones plans to remain in Edmonton for the winter, but expects to move to the Pacific coast later.

He was congratulated by fellow workers upon reaching his retirement date, and all expressed the hope he would have a happy future.

FIRE! FIRE!

TEENIE WEENIES are just like big folk. They make all their plans to prevent an accident after the accident has happened. The Old Soldier with a wooden leg had pointed out that the suction bulb on the medicine dropper which the little people used for a fire extinguisher, was in bad condition and that it ought to be replaced with a new one. "I'll bust one of these days when we really need it," he warned.

He also mentioned the fact that the old teacup which always stood near the kitchen had cracked on account of letting water freeze in it last Winter. The Teenie Weenies had meant to get another vessel to hold their supply of fire water, but nothing had been done. Then one night they had a big fire.

It was really the Dunce's fault, and he admitted it. That's the best thing about the Dunce, he never lies to get out of trouble. It had been a cold day and several of the little men had spent the afternoon in the half-pint cream container which they had made into a clubhouse. The place was heated by a tiny stove made out of two thimbles and the Dunce kept stuffing wood into it until it was nearly red hot.

"Do you want to burn this place 'down'?" growled the Doctor.

"Well, I don't want to freeze," said the Dunce. "It's pleasanter to freeze than to burn," said the Doctor. "This house is made of paper which has been coated with wax. It would burn like thistle-down in spite of all your heroic fire fighting."

The TEENIE WEENIES

BY W. DUNNANEY

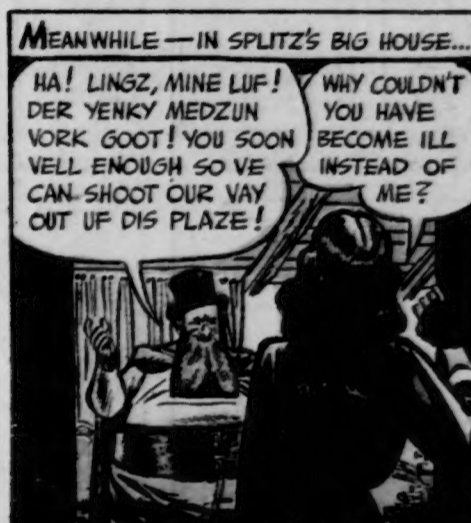

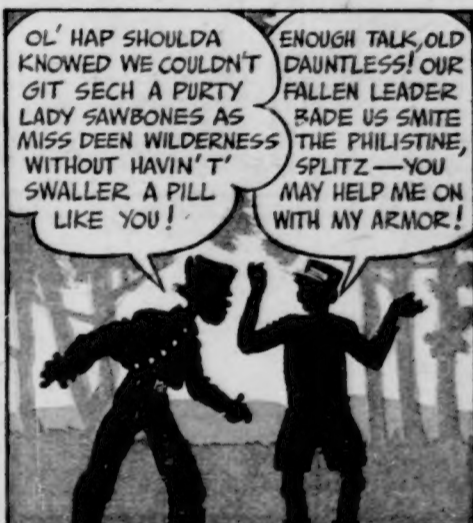

The Dunce was a little careful after that, but when the other Teenie Weenies went to supper he stayed behind and filled the little stove chuck-full of wood before he left. He stuffed seven burned matches into it, for he didn't want the fire to go out.

The Cook had just set a dish of service berry sauce on the table for dessert when the Sailor happened to glance out of the shoe house window. "FIRE! FIRE!" he shouted. All the Teenie Weenies dashed pell-mell to the window and saw a great cloud of smoke and fire pouring from the clubhouse.

Gogo, the Dunce and the Sailor ran for the fire extinguisher, but at the first squirt the rubber bulb broke. Other Teenie Weenies brought acorn buckets of water. The Turk and the Cook carried the rain water thimble from under the kitchen drainpipe. But the club burned to the ground. Now the Teenie Weenies are searching for a new rubber bulb for their fire extinguisher and making plans for proper fire protection.
